

Environmental Policy

DREWSEN Spezialpapiere GmbH & Co. KG, Lachendorf, Germany, is a company founded in 1538. Today we manufacture speciality and security paper and supply our products on a worldwide basis.

The care and protection of the environment is fundamental to the future of our business. We at Drewsen are aware that our long term business success can only be achieved by enforcing a responsible and sustainable environmental policy. Our commitment to environment protection extends across all sectors of the organization.

Compliance with the legal requirements

- We fully comply with all the legal requirements of environment protection.

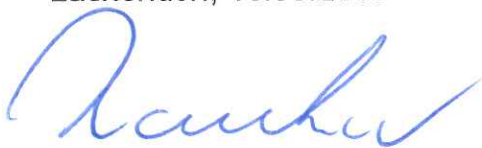

Environmentally conscious actions

- We minimize the environmental impact of our operation by a process of continuous improvements.
- We aim to achieve continuous reduction of waste, emissions and specific water and energy consumption.
- Each employee has a personal responsibility and commitment to limit the environmental impact of their actions.
- The management system, procedures and environmental performance data are monitored regularly and where required actions implemented to achieve seamless and effective improvement.
- Wherever possible waste paper from the paper production is recycled within the operating process.

Training and communicating

- Our internal communication policy, ongoing employee education and training services support the required environmental awareness and expertise of the employees in all areas of the organization.
- All employees with defined areas of environmental responsibility report directly to the executive director. They will advise and oversee the implementation and understanding by employees in all matters relating to our environmental policy.
